Board of Elections Is Not Conducting Door-To-Door Drive

FAYETTEVILLE – The Cumberland County Board of Elections is not conducting a door-to-door voter registration drive. Concerned citizens have reported groups of people claiming to represent the Board of Elections approaching their homes to register people to vote.

“The groups or people conducting this voter registration drive are in no way affiliated with the Cumberland County Board of Elections,” Director Terri Robertson said. “We do not go door-to-door to register people to vote.”

The best way to register to vote is to complete a voter registration form and turn it in or mail it to the Board of Elections office. Citizens are advised that the Board of Elections office at 301 E. Russell St. will close at noon on Friday, Aug. 24. It will re-open at 8 a.m. on Monday, Aug. 27, in its new location at 227 Fountainhead Lane inside the E. Newton Smith Center in Fayetteville. Regular hours are weekdays 8 a.m. – 5 p.m. The phone number will remain the same: (910) 678-7733.

Voter registration forms are available at the Board of Elections Office or any Cumberland County public library branch. Registration forms can also be downloaded by going online to the Board of Elections website and clicking on the “NC Voter Registration Application” link under the “Links and Documents” tab.

If you want to check your voter registration, you can go the Board of Elections website and click on the “Check your voter registration” link. The site links to the North Carolina Board of Elections website, which allows citizens to check their registration online.

“The best way to know your voter registration form has arrived at the Board of Elections is to send it yourself. We will mail you a voter registration card with instructions on where to vote,” Robertson said.
